you are correct. the only thing changing is the tube.

Thanks,

Aaron

I do not want to hold up any decision making!

If you are telling me that the glass and the upc are staying the same, the only thing changing is the tube go ahead and make the change.

Please confirm and we will move on.
Thanks

when would be a good time to discuss?

To help visualize, I've included a couple of photos of the following:

A tray with crystal clear tubes (now), a tray with both crystal clear and clear top/color bottom tubes (interim) and a tray with all color bottomed tubes (future).

As you can see from the photos, that the interim view of both crystal clear and clear top tubes in the same tray does not distract from the display, it actually increases look and feel. The plan would be to place the existing styles in corresponding colored tubes rather than crystal clear tubes in replenishment orders going out in May and beyond. (as far as the system is concerned, nothing changes because all item numbers remain the same)

I'm at a cross roads where I either need to purchase additional Crystal Clear tubes or I need to purchase the clear top/colored bottom tubes. Because I buy in such quantities, I'd rather not have to purchase any more Crystal Clear tubes if I can help it, because it will take quite some time to sell through them and I'd rather give your customers the next best thing on the market which is the clear top/colored bottom tube now rather than waiting.

Let me know when might be a good opportunity to discuss.

Thanks!!!

Talk to you soon.

Aaron

We need to discuss first before I make a decision.

Subject: Convert from crystal clear tubes to clear top/colored bottom tubes in May

Donna,

You have now seen our new clear top/colored bottom tubes and I think the general consensus is that we all love them. How would you feel about me converting out the crystal clear tubes with the new clear top/colored bottom tubes in May with our replenishment orders? Meaning in May, when I sell a reading glass with a crystal clear case I replenish it with the same reading glass, only a reading glass in the upgraded tube. I think the updated tubes will enhance the look of the display as well as increase sales.

Let me know what you think and I'll call you to discuss.

Thanks in advance!
